

CodeIgniter MCQs with answer part - 6

Topics : Codeigniter

Written on March 04, 2024

51. Which method is used to initialize file upload in CodeIgniter?

- A) initialize()
- B) start_upload()
- C) upload()
- D) setup_upload()

Answer: A) initialize()

52. How do you load the File Upload library in a CodeIgniter controller?

- A) `$this->load->library('file_upload')`
- B) `$this->file_upload->load()`
- C) `$this->file_upload->library('file_upload')`
- D) `$this->library('file_upload')`

Answer: A) `$this->load->library('file_upload')`

53. Which method is used to perform file upload in CodeIgniter?

- A) upload()
- B) do_upload()
- C) start_upload()
- D) process_upload()

Answer: B) do_upload()

54. How do you specify upload settings such as allowed file types and maximum file size in CodeIgniter?

- A) By calling the `set_upload_config()` method
- B) By setting configuration options in the `config.php` file
- C) By passing an array of settings to the `initialize()` method
- D) Upload settings cannot be configured in CodeIgniter

Answer: C) By passing an array of settings to the `initialize()` method

55. Which of the following is NOT a valid method to access uploaded file data in CodeIgniter?

- A) `$this->upload->data()`
- B) `$this->upload->get_data()`
- C) `$this->upload->info()`
- D) `$this->upload->file_info()`

Answer: B) `$this->upload->get_data()`

56. What is the purpose of CodeIgniter's Image Manipulation class?

- A) To manage database connections
- B) To handle form submissions
- C) To manipulate images (resize, crop, rotate, etc.)
- D) To generate HTML forms

Answer: C) To manipulate images (resize, crop, rotate, etc.)

57. Which method is used to load an image file into the Image Manipulation class in CodeIgniter?

- A) `load_image()`
- B) `read_image()`
- C) `load()`
- D) `image()`

Answer: C) `load()`

58. How do you resize an image using CodeIgniter's Image Manipulation class?

- A) By calling the `resize()` method
- B) By setting the `resize` configuration option
- C) By using the `resize_image()` function
- D) Resize functionality is not available in CodeIgniter's Image Manipulation class

Answer: A) By calling the `resize()` method

59. What is the purpose of CodeIgniter's Caching class?

- A) To manage database connections
- B) To handle form submissions
- C) To cache frequently accessed data for improved performance
- D) To generate HTML forms

Answer: C) To cache frequently accessed data for improved performance

60. How do you enable caching for a specific piece of data in CodeIgniter?

- A) By calling the `enable_cache()` method
- B) By setting the `cache` configuration option

- C) By passing a cache expiration time to the cache() method
- D) Cache functionality is enabled by default in CodeIgniter

Answer: C) By passing a cache expiration time to the cache() method

© Copyright Aryatechno. All Rights Reserved. Written tutorials and materials by Aryatechno

ARYATECHNO